The Kenwood Group

This unusual group has been designed to meet the demands of the latest trends in American Modern decoration. Made of Solid Oak, its unusual Limed Oak Finish enhances the majestic appearance of this famous wood. The decorative rout lines of this group, which are reminiscent of the finely carved old British Oak pieces, together with its smart contemporary lines and interesting hardware give this group a chic modern feeling and at the same time it retains a spirit which is traditional and romantic. It is definitely keyed to the tempo of the times for better American living.

The Charleston Group

Charleston, S. C., has been noted as the center of culture and luxury of 18th and 19th Century America. Its historic town houses and grand plantations have been famous for their fine old furniture. The Charleston Group has been adapted by Leo Jiranek from some of these rare old pieces and is admirably suited to today's way of living. The true classic lines, the beautiful Mahogany Finish, the authentic details and traditional hardware of the various pieces in this group give them a distinction and character that are found only in the finest reproductions. And for those who want the captivating combinations of the old and the new, St. Johns has also made this group in its popular Harvest Tan Finish.

The American Modern Group

American modern has come of age. Sleek, sophisticated and smartly styled, it has assumed a warmth and livability that is so typical of contemporary American living. A new modern, that is in form and expression as startling as television, it does, nevertheless, borrow from the traditional its freer lines, graceful proportions and decorative treatments. Interesting bits of detail such as moulding, beading and color treatments have been injected to vitalize the severe modern of the past. New finishes have been developed that have added to the luster and charm of its appearance.

ST. JOHNS AMERICAN MODERN GROUP exemplifies the new modern to the ultimate degree of its development. Simple in design, light in scale, decorative in appearance, it is made of Solid Northern Michigan Hard Maple finished in either the new, warm, St. Johns Harvest Tan color of ripened grain, or the very popular Wheat Finish.

The Milford Group

Colonial homes and furniture of New England have always been sources of inspiration and interest to the American people of today. They are perhaps more typical of the early American tradition and culture than any other section of the original thirteen states. The old New England town of Milford, rich in history, boasts of many famous old American homes that are filled with priceless pieces of old Colonial furniture, true examples of the early American way.

ST. JOHNS has named its Early American open stock group the MILFORD because it has been adapted from many of the old and charming pieces found in this historic town. Designed by Leo Jiranek, it retains the spirit and motifs of the old Colonial furniture. The lines, the contour, the details down to the wooden knob handles are all authentic in inspiration. This group is made of solid Northern Michigan Hard Maple and finished in the new and exclusive ST. JOHNS "Colonial Maple" color of soft browner tones which give it an appearance that is genuinely warm and inviting. The forty-six pieces of this group, including eighteen wall pieces which come in different sizes and designs will more than please the most ardent champion of early Colonial for they offer a choice that exemplifies the American tradition of the past which is so popular with Americans of today.
